Dear Hiring Manager, I am excited to apply for a position with Equal Experts. I love working on different problems all the time. I know many different languages, have experience in embedded software, signal processing, data analysis, management, and drafting to name a few. I would love to do consulting work as it would allow me to continue learning every day. I am very good at seeing what makes a problem special and finding novel solutions. At my last job I helped us define common sense so we could try to teach it to our new engineers: The knowledge and experience to understand what the effects of a decision or action might be, combined with the habit of pausing before acting to think for a minute.

Finally, I did a lot of customer outreach where I would try to learn what their real problems were and how I could solve them. I have always been very empathetic to others' issues and find it easy to relate.

Thank you for considering me for your role.

Sincerely, -Douglas Ronne
